

DARRELL WAYNE FAIR | JUSTICE

Justice is deeply rooted in a sense of community and the other. Its pronouns are we, us, and ours. Justice is present. Justice is treating others as you would have them treat you. Justice is mutual and equitable. Justice is sweet to the taste. Both warm and cool to the touch. Justice is soft and firm. Justice is all inclusive and universal. Justice has a colorless hue. Justice lives in our hearts, and originates from the collective love and experience of our ancestors. Justice is happiness and sadness; tears and laughter. Justice never changes, it's eternal in nature. Justice is right, and right on time. Justice rises with the early morning sun, and watches over us under the shadow of the moon. Justice is the sound of children at play, and that deep guttural laughter of our grandparents. Justice is the dessert after a filling meal. Justice is consistent. Justice is you, and me living in solidarity.

Justice is Love

Justice is

Justice Love

Just Love....

Born in 1967, Darrell is a published writer, American-born artist, muralist, animationist, 2019 graduate of NEIU, current North Park Masters student, organizer, activist, and proud father of his daughter, Maria.

He loves to fish.